HOME DEFENSE MEETS AT BASE BALL PARK

The Charleroi Home Defense Police will assemble at the ball park Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock, in uniform, without blouse, for drill. Every member of the Company is urged to be present.

RECEIVES BRONZE MEDAL FOR SECURING RECRUITS

Jascob Wise, commander of the Charleroi Veteran Guard, is in receipt of a bronze medal from the Pittsburgh recruiting force which was in Charleroi about three weeks ago soliciting young men to join the Marines. Mr. Wise received the medal for securing at least one recruit for the Pittsburgh regiment of Marines, and is very proud of the emblem.

PLENTY OF TOBACCO FOR SOLDIER BOYS

A Charleroi boy now on duty in France writes his mother of life as it is lived by the soldiers "over there." and in which he is taking his share of the arduous duty which comes to the American soldier who is serving his country along the battle line. He says:

With the American Expeditionary Forces, Somewhere in France, July 22, 1918—Dear Mother—Just a few lines this evening. I am feeling fine and hope that everybody at home is the same. We are located near a good sized town, but not as large as the last one we were in. We expect to get our trucks in a few days, and then get away from here in the near future. The towns in which we have been located are very short of men, on account of so many of them being at the front. One lady with whom I was speaking stated that she had to get out and do a large share of the farm work. She formerly had four men to help, but this force was reduced to one man, so she says she is now busy from morning till night. The French government takes 25 per cent and 50 per cent of the crops raised; the balance goes to the owners.

I just see by the evening papers that we have taken Chateau-Thierry. That's fine; we all hope to be able to make a 'clean up" in a hurry. As you are as well posted on the war from the papers it will be unnecessary for me to say anything more on this subject.

There are a number of Boche prisoners here and some of them grit their teeth when any of us Americans go by. I presume old Kaiser Bill loaded them up with that bunk about American amounting to nothing. They have found it is untrue since they got out of their trenches.

So far we have the privilege of getting plenty of tobacco, thanks to the American people in sacrificing some of their share to send to us at the front. The French civilians are unable to buy any of this, as it is reserved and sent to t he front.

Well, I must close, but I should hear from you before long, and will be mighty glad when I do. Hoping this finds everybody well, I remain,

Your loving son,

H. T. Barthelot.

County Bakers Hold Interesting Meeting

A meeting of the county bakers was held at Washington on Monday, with twenty-seven bakers from different sections of the county in attendance. Food Administrator J. L. Lockhart was present, and the meeting was in charge of J. W. Fleming as chairman, and James Stevenson, of Charleroi as vice chairman.

Fred C. Haller, of Philadelphia, head of the Bakers' Division in Pennsylvania, was present and addressed the meeting. He said the bakers of Pennsylvania had been doing their part well to keep up the standard set by Mr. Hoover, federal food administrator, and stated he believed a still higher standard of efficiency could be secured. He said it was an absolute necessity that the bakers abide by the food regulations and complimented them upon their willingness to comply with the requests made by the food administration.

He stated that the efforts of the bakers to apprehend bakers who fail to observe baking regulations is helping to enforce the ruling and that bakers were to be congratulated upon their success in this undertaking. Mr. Haller said he considered a baker who did not observe the baking regulation slacker and that he was in the same class as a German spy—a class of citizenry which no community would tolerate.

OBJECTORS MUST SIGN THEIR LETTERS

In several instances we have received communications from persons objecting to the classification of various registrants, registered within jurisdiction of this Board who either omit their signature or sign such communication "Patriotic Citizen," Taxpayer," etc. In practically every instance these cases have been investigated prior to receipt of such communication. If an error has been made this has been connected but on account of there being no signature on communication it is impossible to investigate the case further.

In the future it will be necessary for all communications to be signed before investigation is made.

FIND TRUE BILL AGAINST HOUSKOS

A number of Charleroi merchants were in Washington on Thursday to appear before the grand jury as witnesses in the case against Mike, Mary, and Lizzie Houisko, the charge against them being receiving stolen goods. These members of the Houisko family were recently arrested by Chief Albright and his police on a charge of shoplifting, and a search of the home revealed a large quantity of dry goods, shoes and other property which had evidently been stolen from the stores of Charleroi and surrounding towns. After hearing the testimony of a number of witnesses the grand jury found a true bill. The defendants will come up for trial at the August term of criminal court, which will convene at Washington next Monday.

RECOVER BODIES OF DROWNED MEN

The bodies of the three men who were drowned when the steamer Hillman "turned turtle" in the Monongahela river at Maple Glen Wednesday forenoon were recovered on Thursday. Search began for them at 10 o'clock in the morning and by 7 o'clock in the evening all of them had been found. The body of William Bunton was found in his state room, as well as the body of John O'Hara. The body of William Gatewood, who was asleep in the "recess" at the time of the accident, was found in the river about 20 feet from the boat.

The steamer lies bottom up in the river, and preparations are now under way to roll the boat over and then raise her. It is not known how much damage has been done to the boat, nor will it be able to determine this fact until the boat has been raised.

ODD FELLOWS WILL HOLD BASKET PICNIC

Charleroi Lodge No. 1040, I. O. O. F. will hold a basket picnic at Oakland Park, Wednesday, August 21. Arrangements for the outing are about completed, and members of the lodge and their friends anticipate a most enjoyable time.

RESTAURANT IS ORDERED TO MOVE

The Board of Health of Charleroi, on Wednesday served official notice on the National restaurant, located at the corner of McKean avenue and Sixth street, that it would have to seek a cleaner and more sanitary building within thirty days in which to conduct its business.

At the same time a notice was served on the owner of the building by the Housing and Sanitation Division of the State Health Department that the structure would have to be razed or completely repaired and put in first class sanitary condition.

These notices follow the recent visit of a representative of the State Board of Health, whose mission it is to make examination of all properties which are reported as unsanitary and unfit for housing purposes. A short time ago the Hotel Dunbar, on McKean avenue, was condemned, since which time its interior has been completely remodeled and is now being made over into a store room, with greatly improved conditions on the second floor, making it first class in every respect.

The new bit of navy slang "unconscious," applied by the Marines to the Crown Prince, means stupid in the superlative sense.

PUBLIC IS WARNED AGAINST THE USE OF SUBSTITUTES FOR EGGS

MANY ATTEND THE FUNERAL OF I. R. BLYTHE

The funeral of I. R. Blythe, which was held from his late home on Washington avenue, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, was largely attended. The services were in charge of Rev. C. A. Hartung, of the Methodist church, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Carnahan of the M. E. church of Monongahela. The choir of the M. E. church furnished the music.

SMEAR WINDOWS WITH RED PAINT

The show windows in M. Goldstein's store, Fallowfield avenue, were smeared with red paint some time last night, while the pavement immediately in front of the entrance was decorated with the word "Close," printed also in red.

When Mr. Goldstein arrived at the store this morning, he said he smiled and went to work to remove the decorations. It was little trouble to get them from the windows, but the pavement presented a different proposition. He could not get this paint off, so he will utilize the word in a pavement advertisement.

In an interview this morning Mr. Goldstein attributed the work to jealousy. He says that his clerk, a member of the Union, does not work after 6 o'clock in the evening, although he himself keeps his store open until a later hour. He says further that he is willing to spend $50 to learn the name of the one who did the smearing, as he believes that instigators are behind him, and they are the people he wants to reach.

This makes the third time Mr. Goldstein's windows had been smeared with paint, and while at first he was considerably annoyed, he now takes it philosophicaly and attributes the acts to jealousy.

SEREGANT SHARPNACK ENTERS TRAINING CAMP

Sergeant T. Raymond Sharpnack, of the University of Pittsburgh training detachment, left Monday for the reserve officers' training camp at Camp Lee, Va. He was one of the 10 successful candidates appointed from the Pitt detachment numbering 1,500 men. Sergeant Sharpnack also qualified as an expert mechanic at the students department of the Pittsburgh camp.

IS INDICTED FOR ELLSWORTH MURDER

Paul Kelleson was held by the grand jury for the murder of Andy Danko, at Ellsworth, a bill being approved by that body on Thursday. It will be recalled that Danko was shot while on his way to work late one night, just shortly after he left home. The defendant was a boarder at the Danko home, and became friendly with Mrs. Danko, which caused friction between the husband and Kelleson.

Dairy and Food Bureau Calling Dealers' Attention to Law Violations

UNPATRIOTIC PROFITEERING

John Jenkins, Special Agent of the Dairy and Food Bureau, has been calling on wholesale and retail dealers of foodstuffs in his district the past few days, warning them against the sale of so-called substitutes for eggs and canning compounds. It has been found by the State Department of Agriculture at Harrisburg that practically all of these substitutes are misbranded, and as such are sold contrary to the acts of Assembly governing the sale of food products in Pennsylvania.

An exhaustive analysis made by Prof. Charles H. LaWall demonstrated that these so-called substitutes are composed chiefly of corn starch, while a few of them have rice starch, tapicca starch, and potato starch, with a small portion of ash.

Mr. Jenkins is also distributing a pamphlet issued by the State Agricultural Department, which gives a list of these so-called substitutes, together with their composition. These are 42 of these substitutes set forth, showing where they are made, and an extract from the advertising as set forth on their labels.

The Department, is commenting on these substitutes, says that one of the most reprehensible ways of making money is to take some common, everyday substance, disguise or alter its appearance in some way, make a lot of exaggerated statements concerning it and then sell it for about ten or fifteen times its market value, extolling it as an economical substitute for some expensive article. There has been no preparation of this class within recent years that has sprung into such prominence with such rapidity as the so-called egg substitutes and with so little merit or legitimate warrant for their manufacture and sale.

The department says that to replace any article of the daily dietary with a product costing say one third as much but having one-sixth or one-eighth of the nutritive value, is certainly not in the interests of the consumer nor a real blow at the high cost of living.

As the officials of the department say, they afford an opportunity for unpatriotic profiteering, combined with the development of the art of camouflage to the point of perfection.

The food laws of the commonwealth are against this misbranding of foodstuffs or for any adulteration, and officials of the Dairy and Food Bureau are warning all dealers that any violations of the law will be met with prompt action on the part of the department.

Mrs. Mark Wheeler and son Bernard are visiting with friends in Uniontown.

THE TENTH

For almost two weeks the people of this section have been watching a typical but none the less dramatic and touching episode of the war unfold day by day. From the time the casualty lists first made known the presence of the Fighting Tenth on the Soissons—Rheims front, tolls of life heavy in proportion to the populations have been recorded against the honor rolls of several of Pittsburgh's near and esteemed neighbors, until this week it became apparent to all that the famous regiment had taken its natural place, in the thickest of the fray, and had added another chapter to its blood-stirring record. Weak sentimentalism in contemplation of an event of this nature is entirely out of keeping with our people's strong position toward the war, but on the other hand, he would be callous indeed who could remain unmoved by records that correspondents of The Gazette Times have sent from the towns of the Beaver Valley, and from Fayette, Washington, Greene, Somerset and Westmoreland counties. The reunion of some members of the Tenth of '98 held this week in Connellsville, reminded the public as a whole of the tradition behind the men who went into the front line on that fateful day last month, a tradition that goes far to explain their mettle. The Tenth has always been a fighting regiment and its representatives of today did not forget it when their chance came.

From what Gen. March said in Washington yesterday and last week, we know that the spirit of the entire Keystone Division is that of the Fighting Tenth. It is also heartening to know that the renumbering and redistribution of military units belonging originally to this state have not hidden their identity in any way. A year ago it was feared we should not be able to tell when Pittsburgh and the Western Pennsylvania organizations were in action; we know now that we shall be able to follow them through the war."—Pittsburgh Gazette Times.

COLONEL WATTERSON

What will the Louisville Courier-Journal be without its venerable and inimitable editor, Colonel Watterson? How can it hope to preserve its distinctive flavor? For some time yet, however, the hand of "Marse Henry" may still be seen, for he is to continue to serve in an advisory capacity, and by his advice no doubt the Hohenzollerns and Hapsburgs will continue to be held aloft and wriggling, impaled on an editorial bayonet.

With Colonel Watterson departs personal journalism of the old distinctive sort. He is the last of the race of great individually known American editors and he has served longer than any of his kind. Horace Greeley retired after 31 years of service, Bennett after 37 years. Prentice after 38. Neither Dana nor Samuel Bowles was active so long and only Bryant matched the fifty years of Watterson who can point to some months in addition to his credit. The great Kentucky editor is old enough to be and is a Civil War veteran being now 78 years of age, yet his pen still suggests rather the vigor of 38. Colonel Watterson is the sort of man to die in harness, and he may, after all, do not less, although he very properly concludes that the time has come to ease up.

The intelligent cooperation of private homes all over the country is necessary to save the fruit crop. Canning and preserving should be done as much as possible without sugar. Later when sugar is more plentiful it can be added to the fruits and vegetables at the time of serving, by putting their families on smaller daily sugar rations, many housewives will be able to save sugar for preserving fruit. With the fruit season here the family can easily go with less sugar and it is well to plan for the future when sugar may be even more scarce.

It is some climate that gives the same section 10 below zero in January and 106 above in the shade in August.

The going may be a little slow at the present time, but the fact remains that the Hun is being continually pushed back toward the Rhine.

When the allied armies get on the German soil the yearning of "Kamerad" for the part of the Boche is liable to drown the sound of the big guns.

The New York Sun congratulates the country on the Federal control of game. Of course, the Federal control of pot hunters, sportsmen and feather-fliers.

If less sugar is put on the table, or if it is left off entirely for some meals, people may get the habit of going with less sweet and will be healthier as well as more patriotic.

The shortage of sugar is not a great hardship to the woman who cooks. She knows that syrup and honey can successfully replace sugar in many recipes.

If the Huns are not yet impressed, they will be when they hear of our intention to register sixteen more millions of men for military service—twenty-six millions in all.

The vast ship industry at Hog Island that rose so quickly out of nothing at war's call suggests the marvelous structures called into being overnight by a touch upon Aladdin's lamp.

With a few more reverses to their armies and the German people may begin to melt down the statues of the Hohenzollerns, which now take up valuable space in various communities in Prussia.

Portugal's Many Holidays.

Christmas day is not so generally observed as New Year's day. It has, moreover, only three different dates. The only country whose holidays reveal little of its political, racial or religious origin is Portugal. This is its calendar: January 1, dedicated to universal brotherhood; January 31, dedicated to the memory of all those who fought and died to establish the republic of Portugal; May 3, in memory of the discovery of Brazil by the Portuguese; June 10 municipal holiday at Lisbon; June 24, municipal holiday at Oporto; October 5, the date of the establishment of the Portuguese republic; December 1, flag day, to commemorate the independence of the country; December 25, family day.

"Omnibus Bill."

The term "omnibus bill" was applied to a series of measures passed through congress in 1850, largely through the influence of Henry Clay, intended as a sort of compromise on the slavery question. The chief provisions were the admission of California as a free state to the Union, the organization of the territories of Utah and New Mexico, without restrictions on slavery; the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia and a fugitive slave law. Debate in the senate on these propositions lasted about two months, and was participated in by many of the leading men then in congress, as Clay, Webster, Calhoun, Seward, Chase, Douglas and others.

Dispute Over Tower of Babel.

The exact location of the original tower of Babel has never been determined—the question has been disputed in almost as many tongues as resulted from that first unlucky attempt to build a skyscraper. Near the ancient city of Babylon are two ruins, for each one of which is claimed the honor. One is a crumbling pile of stones and bricks on the banks of the Euphrates, and the other the ruined tower known as Birs Nimrud, a few miles south of the city. Birs Nimrud seems to have the honors in the contest at the present time, the majority of Biblical scholars having thrown the weight of their opinion in its favor.

Save the Eyes.

In this day of intense driving of the human mechanism anything that adds to its efficiency is greatly desirable. The care of the eyes is one of the greatest necessities. Eyes that are very troublesome should be thoroughly examined by a competent oculist. If one is doing a great deal of studying where much scratch paper is used a great amount of the strain upon the eyes may be removed by the use of yellow paper. Also a yellow or green hardness of tissue paper tied around the light bulb will give great relief. Save the eyes to the utmost. It pays in large returns.

Origin of Pawnbroker's Sign.

An effort was recently made to learn from the users the origin and significance of the universal sign—the inevitable and universal three balls. Pawnbrokers didn't know, but the fact is the device is an ancient Jewish symbol of money, a Hebrew dollar sign. It is taken from the design of the Judean shekel in circulation a century or so before the Christian era. This coin bore the formalized design of three connecting branches, from a single stem, each bearing a pomegranate. The similarity to mine uncle's gilded decoration is very apparent.—Detroit News.

LIQUOR REACHED THE SPOT

Error Made by Assistant Need Not Have Worried the Dispenser of Drugs.

Wallace Irwin is fond of telling a yarn about a Scotch sheep herder who strayed into a western town which had recently gone for prohibition. He entered a drug store and, as was customary, made a signal on the soda counter. Now, the proprietor was out, so the assistant, a young lad, understanding the Indian sign took a bottle from a shelf and helped the customer to half a gobletful of brown liquid. The Scotchman smacked his lips, paid his score and went his stolid way.

Shortly afterward the proprietor came back and said to his assistant:

"Any business?"

"Scotchman came and tapped the you-know on the counter," replied the boy, "so I gave him some." He pointed to the bottle of brown liquid standing alone on the shelf.

"Great heavens child," shrieked the proprietor, "that ain't whisky. That's sulphuric acid!"

Tableau.

For two weeks the druggist lived the life of a hunted man. He discharged his helper, made his will, contemplated suicide and spent real money advertising for the widow of the unfortunate customer whom his carelessness had sent to an agonizing death. Just as he was about to surrender to despair he was suddenly relieved by beholding the same Scotch sheep herder, healthy and matter-of-fact, shuffle into his drug store, step to the counter, beckon mysteriously, and whisper.

"Losh, laddie. Ye maun gie me a wee nipple. And mind ye pour it out o' the same bottle. It's a wee bit strong but it puts heart in a mon!"

COLOR IN OPERATING ROOMS

Leading San Francisco Hospital Has Done Away With the All-White Idea So Long Popular.

St. Luke's hospital, San Francisco, has abolished the all-white operating room and its surgeons and nurses wear dark clothes instead of white. The reason for this is two-fold: First, the psychological effect upon patients, many of whom said they were frightened by the glare of the white room, and, second, the effect upon the surgeon. This is expressed by Dr. H. H. Sherman in the following words:

"The discomforts I have had in the present-day white operating rooms led me to suggest that we have dark floors and wainscots in these rooms, so that the operator who looks up from a wound shall not encounter a glare of light and find his eyes useless for a moment as he looks back into the wound. The color scheme, it seemed to me, should start from the red of the blood and of the tissues, and therefore I advised that green, the complementary color to red, should be chosen as the color of the floor and wainscot. The particular shade of green to be selected was that which was complementary to hemoglobin, and this was found to be spinach green."

The Crowd Habit.

An interesting article in the Daily News, London, speaks of our dependence upon life in crowds as follows:

"The thing begins in childhood; we are taught in crowds; brought up in a mental and physical crush. The educationalist still talks of the theory of individual instruction and pedagogues place it in their prospectuses, but it is only their joke. This collective school life not only stunts growth moral, intellectual, even physical, not only kills individuality under pretense of rubbing off the corners, but brands the children's brains with the conviction that life can be lived only in a crowd."

It is well for all teachers to instill the value of quiet study and time for "thinking out things," quite apart from other people, into the minds of their scholars. In this feverish age, as it is sometimes called, we all, teachers and pupils alike, need to believe in our own individual mental ability, uninfluenced by the crowd.

Where Safety Lay.

Even the war has its bright side. Two negro porters were discussing it as they waited for a train to pull into the station.

"Man," said the first, "dem Germany submaroons is sho'ly gwine to sink de British navy. Yas, sir-ee, dey's sho'ly gwine to 'splode dem naval boats dat's waitin' out yonda."

"Sho!" said porter No. 2. "An' what's gwine to happen den?"

"Why, dem Germany submaroons'll come right on 'cross and 'splode de rest ob de naval boats ob de world. Dat's what'll happen den, Sambo!"

"Well, looky heah, Gawge. Ain't yo' an' me better declar' ouahselves a couple o' noot—nootralities?"

"Man," said Gawge, "yo' all kin be nootrality if yo' wants to. Ah'm a German!"—New York Evening Sun.

Name for the Indian Children.

Small people catch on to much more from the talk of their elders than grownups generally suppose, says the Caldwell News. A little girl of four and one-half years one day last week was poring over her primer. It was a lesson about Indians. The mother explained the pictures to the little one, telling her some of the customs of the tribe, and ended by telling her the Indian children were called "papooses." The next day the girl was heard to "read:" "The Indians do not live in houses, and they call their children Bull Mooses."

DIDN'T TAKE MRS. BROWN LONG TO GAIN 10 POUNDS

Hope Every Woman in My Condition Will Give Nerv-Worth a Trial," She Says.

The following new endorsement is one of the most remarkable and convincing of the multitude of Nerv-Worth statements:

"I surely feel glad that I got the first bottle of Nerv-Worth. I had to almost give up my work, but since I have taken four bottles (of Nerv-Worth) I can work all day. I just felt as though I was worried to death all the time and had no appetite and could not sleep at night and I suffered all the time with the back of my neck. I found out it was my nerves, entirely run down.

"I have gained 10 pounds since I began taking Nerv-Worth. I hope every woman in my condition will give it a trial, for I am confident that it will cure them.

Finally Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Key West, Fla.—"For five years I suffered from irregularities, with terrible pains and an awful weakness in my back. The doctor gave me different medicines but they did me no good. A friend asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I found it to be the best medicine I ever tried because it made me well, and I can now do my housework. I am telling my friends about it."—Mrs. J. M. CAMUS, 228 Caroline St., Key West, Florida.

Many women at some period in their life suffer from ailments peculiar to their sex and which in most cases may be readily relieved by this famous root and herb medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, just as Mrs. Camus found it helped her after suffering for years and trying everything else in vain.

If you have any annoying symptoms you fail to understand, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The results of their 40 years experience in advising women on this subject is at your service.

CHARLEROI'S BUSY STORE

WAS ARRESTED FOR ROBBERY

Sam Houston, colored, was arrested in Monessen Thursday, on a charge of receiving stolen goods, on information made by Charles B. Hobson. When Houston was arrested he was found in the upstairs room of a garage in Monessen, apparently asleep. When taken to the police station it was found he was wearing a suit of clothes belonging to Hobson, although he claimed to have purchased it in Pittsburgh, but he could not tell from whom the purchase was made. Other articles were found on his person, which had been taken from the Hobson home. He was given a hearing before Justice White, who held him for court without bail. Houston claimed to be employed at the local plant of the Universal Rolling company, and to be boarding at the labor camp on the plate glass property.

MORE DONATIONS TO RED CROSS

A number of contributions to the Charleroi Chapter of the American Red Cross have been received recently by Miss Minnie Richardson, secretary, amounting to over $150.00. The Curtin Union Sunday school of Fallowfield township contributed $40, while the Sunshine Club, of Seenery Hill, composed of girls of that section, gave $10. This same society contributed $10 to the Y. M. C. A. and $10 to the milk and ice fund in Pittsburgh. The Russian Orthodox church gave $33.00, which had been contributed as they carried their flag in the parade on the evening of August 3; the Italian Girls of Charleroi contributed $6.50 collected in the same manner, and Polish people of Charleroi gave $32.00, also collected in the same way. Another contribution was through D. M. McCloskey, Esq., amounting to $58.53.

BILL AGAINST CONSTABLE IGNORED

In the case of the commonwealth against Thomas Watkins, constable at Cokeburg, held for the death of Alex Sibolsky at Cokeburg on the 21st of May, the grand jury on Thursday ignored the bill of indictment. Sibolsky was shot when he resisted arrest and made an attempt to strike the officer over the head with a bar of iron. Sibolsky was drunk at the time and had previously assaulted a young man in a store by hitting him over the head with a pop bottle.

The Kaiser seems to have been no less childish than garrulous whenever he was in the company of his American dentist. His dictum, "America will have to pay all the costs of the war," is a fair sample of his boastful gabble.
